

We love students and we're proud of what you're doing!

We know each student going to college is working hard toward a specific career. We also know that you and your family make sacrifices so you can go to school. What we don't know is your story before you started college and your goals after graduation.

We want everyone to know our students - their challenges and successes - and why you chose the college you're attending. So we need your help to do that!

We know it takes time to send us the details, so for a brief period we will reward you for your time.

Each month, from August through October 2010, we'll select up to ten real-life stories from those submitted by our current students or graduates to showcase their journey on our website.
