In this information-packed workshop participants will learn the essential ingredients behind the most common success story in education.

Based on the theory developed by Howard Gardner, attendees will understand that each student in their classrooms learns through various multiple intelligences and learns through some intelligences more readily than others.

Workshop attendees will review detailed characteristics of each learning style as well as student and teaching tips effective for each style.

Participants will receive the Master Educator Certificate.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER - Lisha Barnes

Lisha Barnes currently serves as the Academic Development Manager for Milady. She is responsible for developing and delivering academic and business programs for the Cosmetology Industry. She received a Bachelor of Science in Communications from Eastern New Mexico University. Lisha completed her cosmetology training at Olympian University of Cosmetology, where she also served as Administrator for two campuses for over ten years. She is a former Director of Education for a group of schools. Barnes is a former NACCAS Commissioner, a member of Cosmetology Educators of America and has worked on numerous writing projects for Milady.
